About the Coalition...

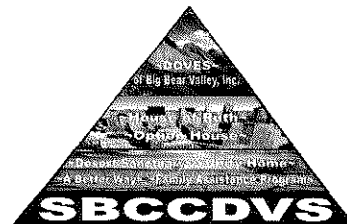

The San Bernardino County Coalition of Domestic Violence Shelters was established in the early 1990's to form a united front in assisting domestic violence victims throughout the county. The Coalition established standards for and conducted a peer review of new Shelter programs, and developed information cards to be given to victims by Law Enforcement. The Executive Directors of Coalition member agencies meet every other month to share ideas for developing best practices and to discuss issues of mutual concern. In 2012-2013, our 7 agencies: answered 10,642 crisis calls serviced 9,452 outreach clients and sheltered 1,415 women and children.
